Kay O polio Sunday

Stamp out polio—they're formally calling it K O Polio Day—in Hancock County this Sunday. It's the biggest single community health campaign ever put on here and the sponsoring Hancock County Medical Society, Jaycees and American Legion are mobilizing forces throughout the area in an effort to immunize against infantile paralysis every man, woman and child from infancy to old age.

Six immunization clinics have been set up and will be open from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. while every school bus in the county will be pressed into action to transport the public to these stations.

The oral Sabin vaccine, fully tested and with no adverse effects, will be administered as a cube of sugar. For infants it will be fed by dropper. "There are no shots and no disagreeable taste," emphasized Dr. John Levens, chairman, who was county health director until he recently went into private practice here.

These are the stations: Bay St. Louis Youth Center, Valena C. Jones School, Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center, Logtown School, Hancock North Central School, Waveland School. All local physicians will participate in supervising administration of the vaccine at the clinics.

Buses operated by the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School systems will begin their regular routes at 1 p.m. Sunday to pick up adults and youngsters to take them to the various centers. Only change from normal in the county run will be that the buses serving Gulfview School will go instead to Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center.

Our Lady of the Gulf Parish School buses will begin their runs at 2 p.m. and Christ Episcopal School will begin at the 3 o'clock hour to cover the area from Nicholson Avenue between the beach and U. S. 90 to take those residents to the Bay Youth Center. When those are picked up the Christ School bus will move into Cedar Point between 2:30 and 2:45 p.m. to get people there to the clinic and later return the passengers.

Annunciation Parish will shuttle their bus between Kiln and Hancock North Central from 1 to 4 p.m.

John D. Rutherford, Jr., general transportation chairman, said arrangements are being made to have private cars available also at the six clinics. Transportation captains are: Joe Benvenuti, Bay Youth Center; Regional Curry, Valena C. Jones school; Sidney Bourgeois, Waveland; Harvey Mind, Clermont-Lakeshore Center; Lamar Oats, Logtown; and Wesley Haas, HNC.

Clerical director for the centers are, according to Mrs. Michael Haas, chairman, at Bay Youth Center, Mrs. Andy Becker; V. C. Jones, J. S. Price; Clermont-Lakeshore, Mrs. Russell Elliott; Waveland, Mrs. Francis Shippey; HNC, Beta Club; and Logtown, Mrs. Bill Breland. Nurses, pharmacists and a host of other volunteers will be on hand at all stations.

Sunday's is the first of three oral immunizations needed to make Hancock County polio-free. The other two will be May 26 and Sept. 22. Hancock will be the second county in Mississippi to covered, only Adams and the city of Natchez being done previously.

News Briefs

REVIVAL AT LOGTOWN

A community revival for churches of the Logtown School area will be conducted from next Monday through Sunday at 7:30 p.m. daily at Logtown Baptist Church with Rev. Joel Sturdivant, pastor of First Baptist Church of Golden Acres, Tex., as evangelist. Song leader will be Ray Bell, minister of music at Boguchitta Baptist Church. Both men are native Mississippians. The public is invited.

SEEK ZONING CHANGE

About 40 business people meeting Tuesday night at the Courthouse voted to seek revisions to the City Planning Commission's proposed zoning ordinance to provide for expanded business and industrial classifications, based on the plan outlined by Wilson Webb and Lucien Raymond.

AT SCHOOL BOARD

Use of all county schools including Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center by the welfare department in event of nuclear attack was approved by the Hancock board of education last week along with use of school buses for Sunday's polio vaccine drive. Repayment was voted of a $900 loan from district funds to the general school fund and the board recessed until 2 p.m. today.

RED CROSS BENEFIT

A benefit for the Red Cross fund campaign is planned at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Trapani's Knock-Knock. Anyone wishing to donate cakes for the event may phone Mrs. Elma Depree or Tom Logue, campaign chairman.

HOMESTEAD FILING IN

Applications for homestead exemptions received through the deadline of April 1 reflected a slight decrease from last year as a result of the NASA test site displacement of homes. Tax Assessor George Heitzmann reports. He expects an even greater drop next year with the buffer zone acquisition of NASA.

SAFE ENOUGH FOR HIS OWN - Bouncing, giggling 18-month old John Levens, III, is subdued just long enough for his doctor daddy to pop into his mouth three drops of the oral Sabin polio vaccine which will be administered to all ages throughout Hancock County this Sunday from 11 to 6 at six different clinics. Tots up to about 24 months will get the dose by dropper, others will get theirs on a cube of sugar.

SUPERVISOR CANDIDATE

Jervis Moran, present Beat 4 constable, this week formally announced his candidacy for the Beat 4 seat on the board of supervisors subject to the August primary. A graduate of Kiln High School, he is a bachelor and is the first to make his bid for this post.

GUARD FETES YOUTHS

Junior and senior boys at Bay High, Hancock North Central and Pass Christian High Schools will be entertained by the local National Guard unit with a fish fry at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Capt. Wallace Farragut, company commander, announced.

Negotiate with GE on huge support for MTO

An extension of General Electric Co.'s Project Apollo support effort to provide plant and test support services at Mississippi Test Operations will be negotiated by NASA.

The federal agency estimates on initial one-year contract with GE would cost about $1.5 million. Depending on negotiations, the extension could run through 1968, reaching an estimated annual cost of $20 to $25 million as build-up of the facility continues and test operations start.

Static testing at MTO will be conducted by various stage and engine contractors under direction of the Marshall Space Flight Center and plant support provided by GE would also be directed by Marshall.

This would include "plant support" — such things as utilities, personnel transportation, plant security, fire protection, medical facilities and photographic services — and "test support" — such as control and communications systems, support services for data acquisition and handling, storage and handling of propellants, a component service facility and shop and field service.

General Electric was selected in February, 1962, to support NASA's Apollo manned space flight program, including systems integration, checkout and reliability. This work, expected to cost about $125 million a year for the next four to five years, gives the company a major responsibility in the technical support area at MTO and selection of GE to provide management of administrative services here will simplify management and improve efficiency.

At peak operation after 1966, the GE support effort at MTO will require some 1,200 to 1,500 employees. All told, upward to 3,000 employees of various contractor firms, along with about 200 NASA people, will be working at MTO within a few years, according to current estimates.

It is anticipated that GE would arrange for a substantial part of the required support direction out of local labor and services and by contracting with firms in the area.

Delay dirt dig rites at MTO, plan reception

Groundbreaking rites at Mississippi Test Operations, originally scheduled for May 15, are being postponed to a date satisfactory with the best of dignitaries who will participate.

The present plan is to have the festivities early the following week, probably Tuesday, May 21, if that date is agreeable to the top brass.

Meanwhile the Coast Council of Chambers of Commerce is extending an invitation to the leading guests to attend a reception immediately after the ceremonies at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Dr. J. R. Wynn of Ocean Springs, council president, will send the invitations after accepting the request from the Hancock County Chamber for the coast-wide organization to sponsor the affair. O. E. Benson, Jr., facilities engineer at MTO, attended the Hancock Chamber's meeting Monday to answer the board's questions on plans for the groundbreaking.

Lab Angola escapee after highway spree

A 26-year-old Texan, who was out of Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola last week, where he was serving a life term for murder and armed robbery, is in Hancock County jail charged with kidnapping, auto theft and armed robbery. Jerry Lloyd Martin of Waco, charged with the kidnapping and armed robbery of skin-diver deputy sheriff Richard Homes, 109 years old, and the theft of a valuable belonging to Homes' daughter, Mrs. Jean Giamelloni, 100 Pellety St.

It happened Monday night after two Bay residents became acquainted with Martin at a place on U. S. 90, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff David V. Price, Jr. Martin asked Homes to drive him west on the highway to where he said he left his truck parked.

They left in Mrs. Giamelloni's car and after they passed the beach, Martin allegedly pulled a gun on Homes, forced him to remove his shirt and got out of the car, using the gun to take him to a tree. Martin took off in the car, leaving Homes managed to get himself quickly and walked to Tommy Layne's place on the beach, phoning the sheriff's office.

Law enforcement units along the coast were alerted and the car was intercepted on U. S. 90 near Gulf Park College in Long Beach by Gulfport Police Det. Rayne and Sgt. Kermit Patten. They fired several bursts from a sub-machine gun over the car, trying to force Martin out of the car and the chase continued for three miles, at speeds up to 120 miles an hour.

Negro tot 1st fatal in 3 years

A three-year-old Negro boy Monday became Bay St. Louis' first traffic fatality in almost three years.

The child, Gilbert Labat, second youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Labat of Sycamore Street, died after being struck by a car in front of his home about 9 a.m. Monday.

City Patrolman Jack Lacher said the tot had been visiting across the street where a car was parked at the gate. He apparently darted in front of it and into the path of an automobile operated by Mrs. Ceola Lizana, about 50, of Old Spanish Trail.

19 occupations listed on Bay High career program

Nineteen occupations will be offered for consideration by Bay High School students at their annual career day Friday when Mack Herring, public information officer for NASA's Mississippi Test Operation, will be principal speaker for the opening assembly at 8:40 a.m. He will be introduced by Superintendent J. D. McCullouch.

Selection of the topics to be covered is based on an interest questionnaire recently completed by the students. Franklin Lacher, guidance counselor, has scheduled meetings with individual speakers at various fields, throughout the day to give students an opportunity to talk with a successful person in the field of his or her main interest. Speakers by occupation will include: medicine, Dr. W. L. McFarland, local physician; law, Joseph Benvenuti, attorney; stenography, Miss Isabel I. Mackay, personnel management specialist, Corps of Engineers; Mobile, nursing and laboratory technician, Thomas Logue, Hancock General Hospital administrator; telephone operator, J. C. Dalme, Southern Bell of Gulfport; forestry, Hugh Hill, International Paper Co.; veterinary, Dr. Robert Athers; journalism, Powell Glass, Jr., Sea Coast Echo; housewife and home economics, Mrs. Lois Drain, Valdemar, University of Southern Mississippi; architecture, B. Bay education study shows

Need high school now

"Forget NASA. You already have a new high school?" That's what H. M. Ivy, Merit School Board Chairman, told the Bay St. Louis School Board of Trustees last Wednesday. Ivy is executive director of Associated Consultants in Education and, along with J. E. Baxner, President, was presenting the firm's 40-page study of the Bay education system.

The new high school would preferably be built on a 20 to 40 acre tract north of U. S. 90 and slightly west of the Bay St. Louis city limits, but scarcity of funds made the area adjacent to North Bay Elementary School tempting, the consultants admitted.

The report urges that the new school be designed for a minimum capacity of 600 students capable of being enlarged to 900 at an estimated cost of $720,000 from a $1,000,000 bond issue, the balance to be used to finance additions at Valena C. Jones and Bay Elementary and possibly Waveland. Built in 1927 Bay High School has a maximum capacity, according to the advisors, of 400 and on March 20 had 433 enrolled. If the growth continues to follow the pattern of the last seven years when the school's enrollment increased from 262 to the present 433, enrollment would reach 609 for the 1967-68 school year. At the same time the whole system as a whole should have 1,380 students compared to its capacity of 1,310 without allowance being made for additional students resulting from the impact of NASA's Mississippi Test Operation.

Using the conservative estimate that 20 per cent of an estimated 2,425 NASA employees will reside in the school district students attributable to this source should reach 728 by 1966-67 after which the number would level off at 728, conclude the investigators.

According to Ivy even the present crowding of Bay High has handicapped the curriculum offered by the school. Of particular concern was the lack of a course in Speech while space precludes the possibility that each student be allowed one period in the library each day. As enrollment increases the consultant said the need for additional courses would also increase.

CANCER CRUSADE

Collections total about $400 toward a goal of $1,500 for the Cancer Crusade, Dr. Walter Russo, campaign chairman, reports. About $150 was realized from the sidewalk cafe staged last Saturday on the beach.

level off at 728, conclude the investigators. According to Ivy even the present crowding of Bay High has handicapped the curriculum offered by the school. Of particular concern was the lack of a course in Speech while space precludes the possibility that each student be allowed one period in the library each day. Zoning proposals

At this stage we hope to still stay out of the zoning question in so far as details of the ordinance proposed by the planning commission is concerned. This is not to say that we concur with all the provisions of the suggested land use map or even of some definitions, but we can make more enemies than we want shooting at much more difficult game.

Nevertheless, so much sound and fury is now being raised, primarily by financially interested parties, that we feel some comment should be forthcoming for the general public. The major opponents of what we will call the official plan have drawn up their own land use map, accepting 80 per cent or more of the official proposal, but changing the zoning classification in five or so areas. With at least one, and possibly two, of these changes we would concur, but think that is beside the point. Both the official and the unofficial plans would be far better than no zoning as we now have.

The point to us is that several citizens, essentially without an ax to grind and advised by a professional engineer-consultant with much experience came up with one solution while those with financial profit as their motive, not their names, came up with the differing solution.

Perhaps we are unnecessarily wary, a skeptic, but we can't help wondering if the changes may not be something to help a few of us at the expense of most of us.

As others say it

Evidence of a Miracle

Do miracles still happen? Yes, they do. Quiet miracles, perhaps, but miracles that touch far more lives than any miracle of antiquity. For example, in 1952, there were 57,740 cases of polio recorded in the United States. Last year there were 889, only 703 of which resulted in paralysis.

We all know that caused the miracle, of course, but to actually see the results of the miracle in clear, undebatable statistics brings the impact home more vividly. It is one thing to be told that a vaccine has been discovered that will prevent polio, it is quite another thing to behold 10 years later the figures that provide conclusive evidence that the claim was true. But there it is — 57,740 cases in 1952, 889 cases in 1962.

In between was a decade in which the Salk vaccine was administered to 80 million Americans. The first announcement of the vaccine came 10 years ago last week but acceptance and widespread use was delayed nearly two years while additional tests were made and doubting Thomases were put at ease.

Dr. Jonas Salk, who headed the research that perfected the polio preventative, is now seeking to work further miracles. He believes a single vaccine is possible and will immunize a person against as many as 100 viruses.

We do not know who the miracle of the anti-polio vaccine touched. Maybe your child, maybe your neighbor's. All we know is that about 50,000 who might have been victims in 1962 were spared. —Columbus, Ga., ENQUIRER.

Baptist revival Roland Holzhauser to open Monday in Waveland

Revival services will begin Monday and continue through next Sunday at Waveland Baptist Church with Rev. Bill Thomas of Coolidge, Ga., as guest evangelist. Evening services will be at 7:30 p.m., and morning services will start Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. A nursery will be provided for all services.

Thomas was a layman for 12 years while with the L and N Railroad. Upon being called into the ministry, he studied at Mercer University where he received his AB in Bible study and was recently graduated from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary with a bachelor of divinity degree.

After morning worship Sunday, April 25, dinner will be served on the grounds.

The Brotherhood of the Church will have a men's breakfast at 8 p.m. Sunday in the educational building. There will be a prayer time afterwards for the revival.

Roland Holzhauser Calbert Smith

Funeral services will be today for Roland Holzhauser, 59, of 248 Ballentine St., who died at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday at Hancock General Hospital. Rites will be at 9:45 a.m. from Riemann's Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home with religious services at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church and burial in St. Mary's Cemetery.

A mechanic for a New Orleans automobile dealer, he was born Nov. 3, 1903, in New Orleans and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Thomas Holzhauser; two daughters, Misses Margaret and Melody Holzhauser; three sons, Thomas and John Holzhauser, all of Bay St. Louis; Roland of New Orleans; one grandchild; two brothers, Joseph Holzhauser of New Orleans, Louisiana Holzhauser of Houston, Texas, and two sisters, Miss Eunice Holzhauser and Mrs. Egan Lusher, both of New Orleans.

Frank Allington

Frank B. Allington, 77, of Blue Springs, Neb., who had been vacationing on the Mississippi Coast, was stricken Tuesday morning on the Bay toll bridge while enroute home and died at 10:30 a.m. at Hancock General Hospital.

The remains were shipped Wednesday by Riemann's Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home to Wymear, Neb., where final rites will be conducted.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Sara Estelle Allington; one son, Duane, both of Blue Springs; two grandsons, three great grandsons and one great granddaughter, and one brother, Clyde Allington of Topeka, Kan.

Town and Country names chairman, adds two members

Chairman for the year were appointed and two new members, Mrs. Charles Faust and Mrs. Sam Manfre, welcomed when Town and Country Garden Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Teague.

Mrs. A. J. Butz, president, called the meeting to order; Mrs. Teague gave the devotional and read the minutes in the absence of Mrs. C. A. Phelps, secretary, while Mrs. S. K. Kasper made the financial report.

Chairmen named were Mrs. Edward LeVasseur, publicity; Mrs. Teague, program planning; and Mrs. John McManera, scrapbook. Members were urged to continue work for the Cancer Crusade, project of the year. Mrs. K. Teague was a guest.

TIME WAITS FOR NO MAN— Using special equipment Coast Electric Power Assn.'s "hot line" crew last week removed a 12,000 volt line from one pole to another in front of the new Horne's Restaurant without interrupting service. In the past power was cut off along the line for such jobs but today's demands for electricity prevent that. Special tools were supplied by A. B. Chance & Co., and the co-op crew consisted of Wesley Hana, foreman, Leroy Shlyou, Melvin Barnes, Marvin Ladner and Herbert Taravouille.

By gone days

April 3, 1952 — Armand Lopez polled 5617 votes to unofficially win the District Attorney position for this five-county area. Boyce Holleman, current interim appointee, was a close second with 5475. The margin of difference was in Hancock County where Lopez polled 1098 to Holleman's 329.

April 8, 1938 — Rotary Club officers elected Wednesday for the coming 12 months were Rene DeMontluzin, Jr., president, Jesse Gray, vice president, George F. Stevenson, secretary, Charles F. Mitchell, treasurer, and Edward Jones, sergeant-at-arms.

Letters to The Editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
Am enclosing money for a year's subscription to your paper. I'm an old lady 80 years of age and was born and raised in Pearl-Lington and I do get homesick for news down that way.

Mississippi's '63 Campaigns POLITICOS SPEAK

BY RALPH SOWELL JR.

Round one of the gubernatorial race in the soon-to-be hottest campaign in Mississippi history ended last week with a loud clang when one candidate told listeners at a meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council that Barnett and Johnson might stay in office until 1968 and another shocked his hosts by refusing to accept the council's urging to refrain from belaboring the racial issue.

J. P. Coleman, governor from 1956-60, who made his announcement to run Monday and will have his opening rally May 20 in a Biloxi-to-Tupelo-to-Ackerman-to-Jackson swing, told the Council that the Supreme Court recently defined as unconstitutional the state of Georgia's election laws, which read the same as those Mississippi will be using in this campaign, "therefore we have no legal machinery for the election of a governor."

Electoral vote required

Section 140 provides that the candidate for governor and Lieutenant governor must not only receive a majority of the popular vote but he must also get a majority of the electoral vote—a system that works in exactly the same way as the Georgia unit system.

So, you ask, is Coleman right? Some say yes; others say no. Sullivan quipped at the Jackson meeting, "Mr. Coleman, rather than do anything unconstitutional, why don't you just sit this one out."

Sullivan also maintained his consistency of keeping a firm stand on issues and blasting the hypocrisy of the state by refusing to soft pedal the race question, as was asked in a resolution presented to the candidates. The attorney, who ran a strong race in 1959 in his first bid, told the group that if the MEC wanted this from him because they thought it would hurt the industry-seeking climate, then "I am not the man you want to support."

The four candidates were asked to state their stand on several key issues. In a nutshell, here is the summary, by no means unanimous in belief.

Increased taxes?

Coleman was the only candidate who said the next legislature would not be forced to increase taxes to balance the budget. All agreed, however, that economy must be practiced and present expenditures curtailed or departments consolidated.

Relative to replacement of the ex-officio state Board of Education, composed of the attorney general, secretary of state and superintendent of education with a nine-member lay group, which was rejected at the polls last year, the candidates' positions were:

Phillips supported it; Coleman opposed the proposal; Sullivan expressed no position, and Johnson said it was up to the legislature and the people.

Concerning workmen's compensation, Coleman ignored the question; Sullivan said compensation should be confined to "industrial injuries" and Johnson said he recommended some changes in the law. Phillips said broad interpretations by the courts had run the costs too high.

As to highways, Coleman said "more money is needed." Phillips suggested reducing the mileage on the state system, and Sullivan advocated a program connecting state, local and county highway expenditures. Johnson said he did not favor the county unit method of operation.

Democrats to register

In other news around the state, the Young Republicans met in Jackson, as did the State Democratic Executive Committee which met behind closed doors but is reported to be debating whether to require persons who want to vote in the Democratic primaries to register as Democrats. Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson announced this week for the state's top office.

"POLITICO PETE" SEZ: "Democrats, reserve your ringlets seat now for the primary battle that will toss into the ring a return engagement between Paul Johnson and J. P. Coleman (both of whom ran in 1955) and a 1959 third-placer who speaks his piece."

MASONIC TEMPLE BUILDING - TELEPHONE HOME 7-4031

Bay St. Louis, Mississippi

April 18, 1963

Dear Friends:

This weekly letter started out to talk about our new building but became side tracked on history.

Lets close the history part by adding that following the 1929-30 panic or depression as most of us oldsters think of it, the Association changed from a State Charter to a Federal Charter and added the word Federal to its name.

It was in 1957 that the Board of Directors purchased a building on Court Street for our future home and 1962 when they decided to erect the building.

Some of you may remember back in December 1950 the Association enlarged its office to its present size and for sometime after had sufficient room to operate and still give our saving members and borrowing members the privacy they were entitled to in handling their business.

In recent years the space began to prove inadequate and we found ourself in cramped quarters and faced with the need to apologize for the lack of space to properly give you the privacy and convenience to which you were entitled.

So we decided to build.

Yours very truly,

Car, commuter are in collision

A Metairie man escaped with cuts and bruises and a somewhat battered 1962 model station wagon when his front bumper tangled with the commuter train at the Nicholson Avenue railroad crossing last Friday evening and the car was flipped down the incline opposite Conner's Grocery.

The motorist was Leonard King, Jr., who was on his way from New Orleans to join his wife and children at his father's home on Waveland Beach, Chief Deputy Sheriff Gerald V. Price, Jr., said King told him he had the car windows closed and did not hear the train whistle. There is no blinker light at the crossing and Price observed that fortunately it was slowing for the Nicholson Avenue commuter stop.

ELLIOTT CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

Having announced my candidacy for Beat #5 Supervisor at an early date, I have had the opportunity to meet with numerous citizens. The response has been MOST ENCOURAGING.

I'd like to express my deep appreciation for the great assistance and support from my many friends.

It is my belief that if the voters will THINK WISELY, they will realize that a NEW, YOUNGER, AMBITIOUS MEMBER to the BOARD OF SUPERVISORS will be a great asset to this community.

During the transition and expansion period of the NASA Test Facilities in our County.

It is my intention to meet PERSONALLY WITH ALL THE VOTERS of Beat #5, to discuss my candidacy, and if I have not had the opportunity to see you yet, I will be calling on you in the near future.

I HAVE THE QUALIFICATIONS and I WILL MAKE YOU A GOOD MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS...

Russell J. Elliott

Candidate for Supervisor of Beat 5, Hancock County, Mississippi (Paid Pol. Adv.)

BEER IS A NATURAL
As natural as the wholesome grains and tangy hops from which it is brewed, beer is Mississippi's traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling, delicious.
And naturally, the Brewing Industry is proud of the good living it provides for so many folks in Mississippi. Not only for employees of the Brewing Industry itself, but also for the farmers and other suppliers of beer's natural ingredients. In Mississippi, beer belongs—enjoy it.

The CYO of Annunciation Parish, Kila, announced this week through Mrs. Effie Mazarakis, adult advisor, they will collect old newspapers to raise money to send delegates to the convention in June. Several other projects to raise money are underway.
Work is reported to be coming along quite well on Annunciation Parish Elementary School.
Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Travira of Kila over the weekend were Monsignor Quinn of Picayune, Theo Smith and son, Gregg, and Joe Holcomb, all of Picayune. While down the men enjoyed some of our Jordan River fishing.
Get well wishes to Willie Ladner, who is seriously ill in the hospital.
Guests this weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Favre were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helmer of New Orleans and Mrs. Mable Peodan and daughter, Dorothy.
The residence of J. W. Olsen was the scene of a frolicking Easter egg hunt Sunday. There were about 60 people.
Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ladner were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ladner last week end.

NASA, law, theater...

HNC pupils hear of varied careers

Mock Herring, public information officer for Mississippi Test Operations, told Hancock North Central students that by the end of 1963 some 3,000 construction workers will be employed at the facility in a career series lecture last week.

He predicted that by July 1, 1964, the facility will be in full operation with NASA employees numbering 150, Boeing 500, North American 500, Chrysler 175 and the support of service contractors, 1,000.

He emphasized the great need for engineers in all fields and skilled technicians to back them up (25 skilled technicians are needed for each engineer). All types of employees will be needed. The contractors will set up their own offices and will make every effort to employ local people. NASA will open a public information office on Route 43 by the first of June where full information will be available.

Those interested in securing clerical jobs under civil service were advised to make application for examinations through the New Orleans office of the Civil Service Commission.

In guiding young people to prepare themselves for the future, Herring urged high school students to acquire a solid background in math, physics and chemistry with adequate knowledge of English and social studies. He quoted Dr. Werner von Braun as saying "There is no limit, no barrier to your future two-yearself."

Other recent speakers on the career series have included District Attorney Boyce Holler; Jess P. Roberts, deputy prosecuting manager of International Business Machines of New Orleans; Dr. E. Wilcox of Wilcox Electric Co. in Waveland; Mrs. Ezeldine Linn, public health nurse, and Mrs. Frank Klefer of the Bay St. Louis Little Theater.

Holler spoke on careers in law and public service, emphasizing the importance of preparing in high school for the lengthy professional education required. More than 350,000 persons are engaged in the practice of law, he noted, most of them in private practice. However, some are employed by corporations and the federal, state and local governments.

Roberts cited the ever-growing use of "electronic brains" for solving industry's problems. But computers must have information fed by a programmer or data processor who is a professional with a college education in engineering, business administration or mathematics. Key punch operators prepare data for the computer, equipment operators manipulate the control switches and panel lights, printer operators put the results in readable form and librarians catalog and file the results. Also needed are service and repair men to maintain mechanical efficiency.

Wilcox spoke on sale and servicing of electrical appliances. He cited his own career, tracing his life from a boy's home, orphaned, through a boy's home, the Navy, where he learned electrical work, and his first business enterprise when he transported himself by bike. Those interested in electrical work were told to serve an apprenticeship with an electrical shop, attend trade school, or finish high school and join the armed forces where special training is given.

Mrs. Ling urged girls interested in nursing to concentrate on science and social studies and home economics in high school, to maintain a good scholastic average, and to participate in extra-curricular activities. She differentiated between nursing training with and without a college degree, spoke about institutional, private duty, industrial, public health, and teaching nursing. She also explained the differences between a registered nurse, practical nurse, and nurse's aide. Opportunities are particularly good for boys in this field because so few are attracted to it.

Mrs. Ling spoke on the theater as a career, urging the students not to strive for the spotlight in acting unless they were prepared to make many sacrifices, do much studying in all related fields and dedicate their lives to the stage and the public. However, she mentioned those working with the actors and actresses were well paid, usually employed steadily and were also a part of the glamour of the stage. Some of the jobs in the theater category are hair stylist, make-up artist, costume designer, wardrobe mistress, set designer, prop man, lighting technician, etc.

ELECTRICITY

MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

THE GOOD OLD DAYS are here right now for people with all-electric kitchens. Modern electric kitchens take the drudgery out of meal preparation.

Mom has plenty of light while she plans the meals she will cook on her automatic electric range. And she can be assured of abundant room in her spacious refrigerator-freezer for ample supplies of both fresh and frozen foods.

After the meal is complete, a handy electric dishwasher will wash her dishes spotlessly clean at the simple turn of a dial.

Sound inviting? Then you'd better check your kitchen to see if it needs that electric touch. Call or go by the Mississippi Power Company for assistance without cost or obligation.

Harry hears...! Spring fever hits sports

Local sports front remains on the quiet side for the most part as the interlude between basketball and softball season is bridged only by high school baseball and track and field action.

Bay High and St. Stanislaus are both fielding baseball and track teams. The Tigers are attempting to defend the Gulf Coast Conference title they won last season, the Rock baseballers have been in the early going by some extraordinarily good pitching, and both the Stanislaus and Bay High lineups have some individual performers.

The big event on tap this weekend is the first annual Mississippi Catholic Conference Track and Field Meet in Hattiesburg. The Rocks appear to be the strongest on the short distance, which is surprising since the outstanding one-two punch of speedsters Golden Jones and Waldo Caceres has departed since last season.

Fasullo follows Caceres, Jones

Fasullo graduated in '62 and is now attending Pearl River College where he is rated a possibility for a starting berth in next year's Wildcat 11. Jones, who set record after record last season with Stanislaus, left the local school after football play and is currently attending classes in New Orleans.

Filling their shoes adequately, however, has been senior Paul Fasullo who has been impressive in early action both in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash. He has formed the core of the Rocks' relay team which looks to be among the best on the coast.

Another good-looking individual performer at SSC is Mike Brady, who broad-jumped to victories in meets at Gulfport and Biloxi. Bay High has a lot of speed and should do well when the Gulf Coast Conference meet rolls around. The Bengals opened the season with a pair of wins before scoring third in a five-day meet at Perkinston Junior College. Lack of adequate facilities on which to practice is a big handicap for Bay High - the Tigers don't have a marked field, and at Perk several lane violations were called against the local team.

A Necaise for Bay High
In early going, a senior and an eighth grader have been the big stars for Bay High. Senior Don Everette, who won first in District 8 broad jump competition last season, has been unable to perform in that event because of an injury, but his speed has not been hampered and his fast running in the 100 and 220 have sparked the Tigers. Eighth grader Charles Necaise's performances in the 440-yard run and high jump have also been of top quality.

Necaise, a North Bay Elementary student, already shapes up as one of Bay High's top athletes with four years of high school. A brother of all-state cage star Doug (Spider) Necaise, he led Coach Eugene Ladner's North Bay basketball team through an undefeated season, first for any team in this area in a long time. Coach Wilmer Seymour, baseball and track mentor at Bay High, is the man who hopes this is one Necaise who stays away from Hancock North Central.

And about baseball
St. Stanislaus' baseball team has had rough going in the early season contests, but if Coach Buddy Pitalo's club can score some runs, southpaw moundsman Curtis Matherne, a sophomore, should be able to hold the opposition down. Matherne recently allowed powerful Gulfport and Biloxi only three runs apiece, but his team-mates could muster only one. Our guess is that the Rocks will come around, but a rugged schedule is ahead.

Bay High has displayed a powerful batting attack in winning three of its first four games. The Tigers have averaged about 12 runs per game and leading the hitting parade has been first-baseman Richard Schaefer, catcher Leroy Luke, and outfielder Leslie Blaize. If pitching improves, Bay High might reverse an early loss to Ocean Springs and retain the loop crown.

Side Bars
Results of a poll in This Week magazine by sports editor Kyle Rote indicate that the nation's public is 2-1 in favor of the abolishing of boxing. Also, of the 33 per cent that want to keep boxing, half think changes are needed.

Even in view of another recent ring tragedy, we won't make an outright statement at present on what needs changing, but would like to hear our reader's views on the subject. It's a touchy situation, and it's our opinion that the public needs to know of different persons' ideas. Drop us a line at the Echo!

There's no official word about it and Coach Billy Sills tells us he has no plans of voluntarily leaving Hancock North Central, but Sills is not on the list of approved returning faculty members of the school, although more names will be added, and rumors are flying hot-and-heavy that Harrison Central head cage mentor Roland Ladner is headed for the HNC post. We've even heard from several sources that the Red Rebels' only experienced returning player, Paul Ladner, will attend North Central. We do know one thing - Ladner has very little material staring him in the face at Harrison Central and he'd be a wise man to jump at the North Central position if he gets an offer.

Bourgeois finishes helicopter course
Army 1st Lt. Thomas J. Bourgeois III, whose wife, Carolyn, lives at 1000 North Beach, recently completed a 14-week helicopter pilot course at The Aviation Center, Ft. Rucker, Ala.

Lieutenant Bourgeois was trained in cargo and utility tactics with rotary wing aircraft. He is a 1950 graduate of Bay High School.

Pass Hi upends Tiger 9

Bay High's hopes for a second consecutive Gulf Coast Conference championship were jolted Tuesday afternoon by an unexpected source. The Tigers fell 11-7 to Pass Christian, victims of Bay High earlier in the season by a 19-8 margin.

Five-run rallies in the third and sixth innings led to the Pirates' triumph. The longest Pass High hit was a double but seven Bay High errors helped account for many of the runs. Bay High took a short-lived lead with four third-inning markers and added three more in the seventh and final frame.

Catcher Leroy Luke, left-fielder Frank Miller, second-baseman Barry Kneeland, right-fielder Billy Thomas, and pitchers Don Saucier and Danny Krankey all had one single apiece for Bay High.

Wayne Moran was the winning pitcher, while starter Saucier took the loss. Gay Noto and J. Krankey worked in relief for the Bengals.

The Tigers won over Long Beach Thursday afternoon, 11-7. Noto pitching his second victory in as many decisions as Bay High led from the start. Frank Miller rapped a grand-slam homer in the first inning to get the locals off and rolling, and Strong was 2-4 at the plate.

Next action for Bay High is Friday afternoon at City Ball Park against St. Martin Yellow Jackets in a Gulf Coast Conference game. The Tigers are now 3-2 on the season and 2-2 within the conference.

Rocks will seek MCC track crown

First annual Mississippi Catholic Conference track and field meet unfolds Saturday at the "San Antonio" track on the campus of Hattiesburg High School. Fourteen events will be staged and all league members are eligible to participate with Sacred Heart of Hattiesburg as the host school.

St. Stanislaus Athletic Director Brother Dacian, president of the MCC, announced that a scratch meet will open proceedings sharply at 10 a.m. The track meet will then start at 12 noon when the first field events are scheduled. Each school will be allowed two entries in all individual events, but will be allotted only one relay team for each of those races.

The winning team will be awarded the first conference track and field championship trophy, and first, second and third place individual scorers in each event will get ribbons. Rules will be the same as in the Mississippi Handbook.

St. Stanislaus was third in 1963's second meet, a quadrangular affair last Wednesday night in Gulfport. Gulfport High won with 68 points, Notre Dame of Biloxi, an MCC school, finished second with 38 2/5, Stanislaus had 30 2/5, and Long Beach rounded out the field scoring 28 1/5 points.

Mike Brady was the only individual winner for the Rock track team, a broad jumping 18' 1 1/2". The Stanislaus 880-yard relay team of Paul Fasullo,

Everett, Necaise in double wins but BHS thinclads beat

The Bay High Tigers were handed their first track defeat of the season last Wednesday at Perkinston Junior College, but still finished a respectable third in a five-way meet.

Stone High of Wiggins scored 56 3/4 points to edge Long Beach for first place by a scant 1/2 point. Pass Christian finished fourth and St. Martin fifth.

Senior Don Everett of Bay High was one of two double winners, winning the 100-yard dash in :10.8 and claiming top honors in the 220 with a :24.4 clocking. Eighth grader Charles Necaise won the high jump with a leap of 5' 7" and senior Bill Pahlman put the shot 42' 4 1/2" for first places, and Necaise also tied for first in the 440 in :56.2.
